Girl Scout patch programs provide girls with opportunities to learn new skills, network, and have fun. Some patch programs even allow Girl Scouts to partner with local organizations or guests.

The patch programs listed below were developed for Girl Scouts of Greater Los Angeles and are available for Girl Scout troops and individuals.

Access requirements for Patch Programs here.

Patch programs cover a wide array of topics so Girl Scouts can find something to match their interests, and programs such as the Basic 8 are progressive, so skills can be built year after year as girls grow in their abilities.

Once earned, patches can be purchased at your local Girl Scout shop, and placed on the back of their vest or sash.

Badges & Patches, what's the difference?

“Badges” refers to Girl Scout’s National Proficiency Badges, which are worn on the front of the uniform. They have a distinct shape and color that corresponds to each grade level, and each have specific guidelines to earn.

“Patches” are a way to focus on different areas of girl interest. They can be earned for any number of activities and are always worn on the back of the uniform. While patch programs have specific guidelines for earning, “Fun patches” can be earned simply by attending an event or participating in an activity.

Activity

10 minutes

Split your group up into teams. Have at least three people per team. Once you have them in teams give each team one of the patch program handouts (downloaded from the website) and give them five minutes to create a 30-second commercial about their patch program to share with the larger group.

Allow groups to share their commercials and then see if there are any questions about any of the patch programs.

Provide everyone with a copy of the following handout with a detailed listing of all the patch programs including which age level they are for.

You can access requirements for these Patch Programs on our website. Once earned, patches can be purchased at your local Girl Scout shop, then placed on the back of a Girl Scouts vest or sash.
